Flood-related community debris collection update (updated June 23, 2008)

Emergency debris management efforts in local communities vary based on local needs and available resources. Residents may need to place waste at the curb for pickup by a waste hauler, take waste to an emergency collection site established in the community, or take waste to a local landfill.

Bartholomew County: For information, residents may contact the Bartholomew County emergency management agency at (812) 379-1680. The Bartholomew County solid waste management district is overseeing debris management.

Brown County: For information, residents should contact the Brown County solid waste management district at (812) 988-2063 or (812) 320-8992, which is a temporary telephone number established for local debris management efforts. Volunteers are working to provide assistance in affected areas. Roll-off containers and curbside pickup are being used.

Daviess County: Elnora residents may contact the Town of Elnora (812) 692-5415 for information and updates on flood-related debris removal.

Decatur County: Decatur County emergency management agency at (812) 663-2004.

Greene County: For information about debris collection efforts in Greene County communities, residents may contact the Greene County solid waste management district at (812) 659-3788, or toll free, at (800) 281-1930. The Town of Worthington has established two debris management sites.

Jackson County: Jackson County emergency management agency (812) 358-6110.

Jennings County: Jennings County emergency management agency at (812) 346-1691.

Knox County: Knox County emergency management agency at (812) 888-5137.

Lawrence County: Lawrence County emergency management agency at (812) 277-9680.

Monroe County: Residents may contact the Monroe County solid waste management district at (812) 349-2020 for information about flood-related debris collection and special flood relief provided through June 30.

Morgan County: For information about current debris management collections in Morgan County communities, residents should contact the Morgan County emergency management agency at (765) 342-8468.

Owen County: For information about assistance provided in local communities, residents should contact the Owen County health department at (812) 829-5017. The closed Patricksburg Landfill has been designated for temporary flood-related debris management and dumpsters are being placed to help with flood-related debris collection in various communities.

Rush County: Residents should visit the Rush County website at www.rushcounty.in.gov. Residents may contact the Rush County emergency management agency at (765) 932-8391 or (765) 561-7203.

Shelby County: For information, residents may contact the Shelby County emergency management agency at (317) 392-6308. Roll-off containers are being used in Shelby County. An area in Middleton is being used for natural vegetation.

Vigo County: For information about flood-related debris removal, residents should contact the Vigo County commissioners at (812) 462-3367. Curbside pickup is being provided for flood-related debris to be transported from affected areas to the local landfill.

All other areas: Residents should contact the local emergency management agency in their county for the latest information about flood-related and storm-related emergency debris management. For an online listing of local emergency management agencies, visit the State of Indiana website at <http://www.in.gov/gov/3745.htm>. Contact Amy Hartsock with IDEM toll free at (800) 451-6027.
